bringing together one of the most important bodies of research into people s working practices this volume outlines the specific character of the ethnomethodological approach to work providing an introduction to the key conceptual resources ethnomethodology has drawn upon in its studies and a set of substantive chapters that examine how people work from a foundational perspective with contributions from leading experts in the field including graham button john hughes and wes sharrock ethnomethodology at work explores the contribution that ethnomethodological studies continue to make to our understanding of the ways in which people actually accomplish work from day to day as such it will appeal not only to those working in the areas of ethnomethodology and conversation analysis but also to those with interests in the sociology of work and organisations participatory case study work shows academic co researchers how to adapt and implement their methods so that data collection and analysis is authentically participatory at the heart of this text is advocating a participatory approach to case study work with co construction as a catalyst for shared understanding and action in advancing ageing studies whilst case study research has a relatively long tradition in the canon of research methodologies little attention has so far been paid to the importance and value of participatory case study work this is surprising as its egalitarian and democratic value base naturally lends itself to the co production and co creation of personal and collective theory drawn directly from lived experience the book brings together over 15 years worth of participatory case study work in ageing studies in which the editors have been actively involved as either front line researchers or as supervisors to phd and mphil studies adopting the methodology and from where each of the contributors is selected real life case examples are shared in the main chapters of the book and they provide direction as to how learning can be applied to other settings the chapters also contain key references and recommended reading this volume will appeal to undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as postdoctoral researchers interested in fields such as research methods qualitative methods ageing studies and mental health studies in industrialized cultures what we do to earn a living is usually divorced from what we do the rest of the time this contrasts with non market cultures where work is an intimate part of life people of such cultures perceive a unity between hunting and raising a family between making pots and training children between the building of houses and the practice of religion often there is no separate word for work because work is such an all encompassing activity work in non market and transitional societies is an overview of the organization of work in diverse societies the division of labor the notions of time that affect work and working and the kinds of adaptations people make when transplanted from one society to another the groundbreaking study encompasses pre industrial and non market societies as well as cultures in the process of change and modernization this double focus provides an unusual and stimulating perspective for both anthropology and the social sciences this book features a broad theoretical introduction delineating the major issues and aspects of investigation in this field it then presents twenty essays that show how work is carried on by women and men in varied societies and cultures the authors provide guidelines for understanding the different value systems and discuss why each approach to work is appropriate in its specific societal structure
